Enjoying a ten-minute break, Seniors Lisa Loftin and Burt Tabor have a small snack while conversing with friends.

Put your head on my shoulder. Powder Puff cheerleader Andy Adkins gives his condolences to junior Miste Bitner after her squad lost to the seniors.

The first step

Winding its way through many obstacles, friendships, and memories, the long path of life offers us the chance to grow with each new step.

For BSHS students, the first step towards a new year came on Aug. 22, when 417 students enrolled. Immediately filling our lockers with snapshots, posters, and school books, we were making memories without realizing it.

The next step was to get involved—whether it meant participating on the volleyball team or finding that perfect after-school job. Other activities—football games, Homecoming, and a constant stream of homework—gently guided us into the "swing" of things.

On a larger level, BSHS stepped up its academic standards, with a get-tough absentee policy and a shift to more traditional English courses.

Although there were many steps to cross on the individual level, there were greater barriers met by those around the world...
Showing their spirit: C. Courtney, R. McConico, M. Hohman, T. Knight, and M. Orser ride on the fire engine during the Homecoming parade.

Huddle up! Junior Jerry Dalebout gives junior powder puffers Barbara Knoche and Carrie Seaton some pre-game advice.

Home sweet home. Seniors Lora Hendricks and Sherry Herdman demonstrate how a locker can become a second home.
The next step

On a national level, various steps slowed our pace as we experienced worry and frustration last summer when Shiite Muslims held American citizens hostage aboard a 747. We also came one step closer to a summer without baseball during a one-day strike.

Shattering the stability of our allies in Mexico, an earthquake took its toll on an entire nation. 1985 was also the year when air travel and airport safety became questionable.

Stepping into the spotlight, the AIDS controversy took the nation by storm when movie star Rock Hudson died of the disease during the summer.

The frightening Chicago Bears came out of the woods to capture Super Bowl XX with the help of William "Refrigerator" Perry and Jim McMahon, stomping the Patriots, 44-10.

Closer to home, the K.C. Royals captured a great victory when they came from behind to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals.

However big or small the step, we all found ourselves venturing "one step closer" to the goals we plan for the future.

Let's show them what we've got! Seniors Wendi Coffman, Tonya Ferrell, Bridgette Greer and junior Kellie Hulsey show enthusiasm at a basketball pep assembly.

Go Hawaiian! Junior Dawn Pickett shows off her leis during Stuco spirit week.

This is the time to relax. Seniors Michelle Brizendine and Carrie White sit in the commons during break.

On my way. Sophomore Nicki Johnson gets ready to dash for her next class.

Congratulations, Steve. Larry Arnold, Steve Christensen, Shawn Walker, Monte Chayer, Chuck Stites, and Bill Downing participate in a rally honoring state cross country qualifier Steve Christensen.

Best friends. Juniors Tara McCrink and Melany Allen await the start of the Homecoming parade.

S-E-N-I-O-R-S. Senior Michelle Hartegan participates in the Senior yell at the first pep assembly.
It's time to relax. Senior Jeff Dolinar kicks his feet up and relaxes in the cafeteria during a 10-minute break.

Enjoying the sunshine! Becky Bizzell, Shelly Gray, Robert DeLeon and Tammy Humber get some fresh air out on the patio.

Trick or treat! Senior Junior Yanez treats Michael Gardner with a piece of candy during the Child Development preschool trick-or-treat parade.

Don't dog me! Senior Kris Baker and her buddy Sammy show their support for BSHS by wearing a Braves hat.
Seniors Pat Pickert and Kathleen Stephan were named the 1985 Homecoming King and Queen. Pat, who represented the Senior Class, has been active in football, wrestling, and golf. Representing B-Club, Kathleen has participated volleyball and softball. She has also been active in B-Club, Kayettes, and Stuco.

Glory Days

Starting off slowly, Homecoming arrived leaving us unprepared. With petitions starting to circulate, students realized that Homecoming was just a short step away and started to feel the spirit. Although Spirit Week wasn’t well received, the Pep Rally Oct. 4 pulled students together and got them ready for Saturday—the big day.

Rising early to the bright morning sun and high winds, the class floats, attendants, and candidates all arrived at the high school ready for the parade through town. Afterwards, a large crowd gathered to view the floats and show their support at a pep rally.

Kicking off at 2 p.m., the Braves rallied to a 34-0 victory over Ottawa while the Sophomores captured the float competition...

Dance fever

Twins! Juniors Mikki Allen and Tim Toland celebrate Nerd Day by dressing up for the occasion.

You gotta love 'em! Volleyball members show their spirit for Homecoming Nerd Day.

Final touches. Sophomores Bill Downing, Craig Stephan, and Monty Chayer help complete the Soph float.

Punked out! Heavy Metal lovers James Franklin, junior, and senior Michelle McMackin take a break from Punk Rock Day.

Playing for the crowd. BSHS band members entertain the crowd during the Pep Rally after the parade.
Marching to the beat! Soph Erin Fix shows her spirit during the parade.

87 Action! Juniors Curtis Noll and Margarita Davis look in on the action.

First Place. The sophomore float captured first place in the float competition. The seniors grabbed second.

Glory Days...

Half-time festivities included the crowning of Kathleen Stephan as Homecoming Queen.

For the first time ever, a Homecoming King, Pat Pickert, was honored.

After decorations, the commons was ready for the Homecoming finale, the dance.

Remembering past times, our "Glory Days" were portrayed through various pictures hung to remind us of past experiences.

Whether it was listening to the music from Sound Dynamics, or enjoying a personal moment with that special someone, the dance went over well. Following the dance, students opted to eat at various places such as Mario's, GoJo's, Red Lobster, and Annie's.

Show us your whites. Soph Candy Sheppard and juniors Julie Laing and Carle Seaton smile big as they ride by during half-time.

Gathered for the excitement. Football team members anxiously await the start of the pep rally.
'Twas the dance . . .

'Twas the dance before Christmas and all through the school . . .

This year's Stuco-sponsored Courtwarming was held Dec. 17, featuring the theme, "Twas the dance before Christmas." Approximately 150 students attended.

Music was provided by a disc jockey, playing the hits to entertain everyone. As the evening progressed, the time came for the crowning of the king and queen. The suspense came to an end at promptly 8:30 p.m. when the 1984 queen Robin Roberts placed the tiara on Lisa Pickert, who represented the girls' basketball team. Santa Claus (Clausie Smith) crowned Steve Christensen as king, the JCL representative.

Many students wound up their festive evening around 9:30 p.m. and went to various places to eat—Annie's, the Plaza, GoJo's or the Peacock Pavillion. All in all, the dance entertained those attending while spreading holiday spirit.

Watching intently. Candidates and escorts look on as the next nominee is announced.

Let me entertain you. Chris Thomas entertains students at the pre-Christmas assembly with a "Hangman" game.

Frightening but exciting, that’s what this year’s fall play, Dracula, was all about.

The play premiered Oct. 31, fitting well with Halloween spirit, and continued to show through Nov. 3.

Choosing this play was an easy choice for director Barl Foote, because of the available talent. Ms. Foote cast senior Randy Freeman, who has been active in drama for four years, to play the evil Dracula.

"Being chosen to play Dracula was the thrill of my high school acting career," said Freeman.

The play was not only a success because of its characters, but also because of its technical effects. The set for the play featured such elaborate props as a rotating bookcase, and technical effects included special lights and the use of a fog machine.

Senior Burt Tabor, who designed the set, said it was the most complicated one the department had produced. The fog machine was run by Robert DeLeon, with other special effects by Hardie Loehr.

Other members of the crew included Tina Wilson, Albert Linan, Steve Johnson, Alan Anderson, and Rodney Randolph.

When the final curtain had been drawn, Ms. Foote said she was pleased with the work of her crew. "I would do it all over again," she said.

Did you hear that? A group of seniors "pig out" at an all-you-can-eat buffet.

Get into the groove. David Stephan, Amy Smith, Shawn Hall, and Kristi Finley spend part of a weekend at the Stuco Morp.

Badness! Junior James Franklin enjoys his weekend by shining the pride and joy he received for Christmas.

We love weekends

After five long days of paying attention and focusing, a student is ready for 48 hours of good times and memories. Weekends provide a short, needed break from the tedious classroom scene.

Close friends find themselves enjoying many of the area's "hot spots," such as the local Pizza Hut, Price's Bridge, Annie's, and the Plaza.

But weekends are not just a period for spending money. Many students earn money by holding weekend jobs that take away from their vacation time. Senior Shawn Walker feels negative about donating many of his Saturday days to working at Brewers. "It takes away my free time, but Saturdays do bring good hours," he said.

Describing the "perfect" weekend, senior Deanna Parker said, "The perfect weekend would start out by going out and partying with my friends Friday night, and spending Saturday night with my favorite guy at an expensive restaurant with candlelight." She added that Sunday is "for relaxing and dreaming of good times to come." Until that last bell rings in May for summer vacation, weekends will remain a valued part of every student's life.

9. I have to go home and await a phone call from Steven Spielberg concerning the lead role in his next movie.
10. I have to get up early to participate in Tiddlywinks tournament.
Just You and I...

Tuxes, corsages, limousines... are all these steps just for one evening really worth it?

Of course! To the 199 people who attended Prom 1986, "Just You and I," at Lake of the Forest, all the preparations were well worth the time and effort for the successful evening.

To make sure the evening was well spent, we all took our first step in choosing that special someone we wanted to share the evening with, whether it was a close friend, or just someone special in our hearts. After plans were finalized with this special person, all the preparations had to be made...

The American... Corsages... Skies...

Prom 1986

Making dinner reservations, picking out dresses (that hopefully no one else had), renting tuxedos, and ordering flowers came first in our steps to a very special evening.

At the prom, which started at 7:30 p.m. May 3, students—along with BSHS staff members—stepped to the beat of the music played by a disc-jockey from Sound Dynamics. Then, following the prom, various restaurants such as the Skies, the Alameda, the Peppercorn Duck Club, or the American, served in bringing the evening to a close.

Cruisin’ . . .
Cruisin’ . . .

Cruisin’! We all do it, and we all enjoy it, but first you have to have something to cruise in!

From Camero convertibles to Chevy’s Ford’s, Toyota’s, Mustang’s, Nissan’s and VW’s, the BSHS parking lot is full of cruising machines.

But keeping up cars isn’t always easy because they always seem to break down. Not including gas money, many BSHS students spend their hard-earned money keeping their cars in shape. In the long run, though, all the hassle and money put into a car is worth it—especially when it comes time to roll down the windows, crank up the radio, pop off the top, and CRUISE!

What would you describe as the ideal senior weekend?

Paul Mellott—"The whole senior class going to a lake and having a big celebration party and camp out."

Kathy Bates—"A senior breakfast on Friday morning and then sleeping in all classes, so you're ready for Friday night."

Kris Lenz—"We would all go away far from here and just act crazy and relax from our pressures."

Shelly Gray—"Going four-wheelin' Friday and then cruising the Plaza Saturday night. Sunday calls for hitting the Shawnee Mission Park all day!"

Footnotes

When a student reaches a certain stage in his life labeled S-E-N-I-O-R, he finds there is more to senior life than fun. Being a Senior is . . . special; it must be special or it wouldn't cost so much!

To begin the year, in order to become a more spirited senior, one must not forget to purchase the senior shirt, $12.

Next on the list of needs for seniors is pictures. Most senior pictures run from $100 to $150. These items are sometimes called "essentials" for seniors.

Also, one must not forget the wonderful evening called Grad Night at Worlds of Fun. This fun-filled evening could run from $15 to $30, depending on your eating and game-playing habits.

Of course, to graduate you need a cap and gown. Rental cost: $10. But if you want anyone to come see you parade around in this fashionable cap and gown, you need to purchase announcements. The average senior basket is approximately $60.

So, when we total all of these figures, the average cost of being a senior comes to the low price of $200, and this does not include all the parties and fun!

Footnotes

What a day to remember! On Friday, Feb. 21, the class of 1986 presented their senior assembly, "Bonner Bandstand." The program was packed full of dance, enthusiastic girls performing "Summertime Girls" and "We Like Ugly Women," rapping senior studs in the Bonner Braves Shuffle, and laughing class clowns imitating popular television commercials.

Practicing hard before and after school, dedicated seniors gave it their all to make the assembly special for underclassmen. To end the presentation, seniors collaborated by singing "We Are the Braves."

Star Search

Searching for the stars, the Totem Pole and Pow Wow staffs once again sponsored the Injun Joe/Jane contest. Keeping with the theme "Star Search '86," the ten senior candidates participated in acting, dancing, and spokes-model categories.

Judging these talented seniors "Madonna" (Lisa Pickert), "Tina Turner" (Lori Delana), and "Joan Rivers" (Kim Mattos) shared the fun by rating each act.

When the votes were tallied, Kristi Finley and Jerold Fletcher came out on top.

Steps to Memories . . .

As every school year passes by, we step closer to the one goal we set our sights on long ago—graduation. For members of the Class of 1986, the hard work paid off on Tuesday, May 20, when they each took part in Commencement.

Not only does the actual ceremony serve as the fulfillment of a dream, but the before and after segments of the special evening add to the enjoyment. To make the evening more special, seniors found themselves mailing invitations, planning parties, and making sure the caps and gowns were just the right size.

The evening of May 20—set for perfection as the sunset added the perfect touch of softness—went by quickly as valedictorian Tonya Ferrell and salutatorian Jonna Buck addressed the crowd with special messages. Afterwards, graduates received their diplomas from members of the USD 204 board of education and presented the class gift, and electronic memo board, to the school.

You know you’re a junior when...
1. You eat, drink and live ’87.
2. Although you feel it, you’re not quite 18.
3. You stay up all night to finish your research paper that was due yesterday!
4. You finally don’t get teased about being the “babies of the school.”
5. You finally get to go to the Prom, but you don’t have a date!
6. When you finally reach your goal of selling four magazines—all to yourself!
7. You can’t wait for next year’s spring break, but then you learn you might not get one.
8. You get cheated out of winning your Powder Puff game.
9. The wind knocks down your Homecoming float.

FOOTNOTES

If you could go anywhere in the world, where would it be and why?
Steven Roberts: "I would go to Florida because Disney World is there."
Kelly Martin: "I would go to Europe to party with the Europeans."
Becky Rehm: "I'd go anywhere that Jeff Barger, Mickey Mouse, or Sam Harris might be."
Frank Dorsey: "I'd go home to sleep."

If you were the president of the U.S., what would you do first?
Lori Mistler: "Redecorate."
Michelle Gregory: "Resign."
Bill Downing: "Try not to make any promises."

If you won the lottery, what would you do with the money?
Laurie Cullen: "I'd put it in the bank and live off the interest."
Arthur Bolton: "Help all the people that I could."
Richard Laing: "I'd give some to charity and then build a huge house on a huge piece of land in Maui."
Scott Geary: "Buy a Porsche 911 Targa and a bingo palace."

If you were granted three wishes, what would they be?
Kim Roberts: "1.) to lose ten pounds. 2.) to make straight A's. 3.) to have three more wishes.
Samantha Altkens: "1.) no more zits. 2.) no more misty weather to make your hair look bad. 3.) a great tan forever."
Erin Fix: "1.) to have every ticket to every Loverboy concert. 2.) to meet Mike Reno in person. 3.) to have another wish."
Sophs adjust to BSHS

As summer vacation drew to a close, we were hit with the realization that school was about to begin and that we would soon be facing new classmates, new teachers, and new territory.

We knew that now, we had to start all over again... at the bottom of the totem pole.

Starting out, we all felt the same nervousness and each one of us contemplated the possibility of tripping in the commons, falling down the stairs, or dropping our trays in the cafeteria and embarrassing ourselves in front of everyone else.

All of us were certain that we wouldn’t be accepted and that the upperclassmen would do nothing but make fun of us.

Soon, we realized that we were mistaken. All the teachers and the upperclassmen were friendly and treated us kindly. They weren’t the monsters we had made them out to be!

Sure, we had more than our share of embarrassing moments, and we had a lot of jokes and pranks played on us, but the upperclassmen proved to be very helpful and we came to know them well and consider them as our friends.

As yet another school year passes by and summer vacation is in our thoughts constantly, the sophomore class says, “thank you” to all of the upperclassmen and staff for their friendship and helpfulness throughout the year.

Sophomore Action

1985-86 brought sophomore spirit and lots of it. But without the work of our top athletes and achievers, our spirit would have been nil. This brings us to the commonly yelled chant, "Sophomore Action."

No matter where we turned this year, sophomore action exceeded the limit and went just a bit further. Whether you were in class, at a wrestling match or football game, sophomore spirit met up with sophomore action to form an awesome combination.

In cross country and basketball, we had the drive of Bill Downing. During football season, we were put on the edge with the skills of Scott Geary and Tony Carver. When volleyball or girls' basketball was down, we had Stephanie Stean to bring us up. After a long day at a wrestling meet, we weren't disappointed by state qualifiers Jay Verdict or Scott Geary . . .

... In tennis, Monty Chayer was a third man, a vital position to the squad. During golf, Richard Laing was a promising putter. While down at the track, we had the speed and agility of Kelly Martin, Darren Hunt, Bill Downing, Frank Dorsey, and Jesse Freese. Sitting in the stands for a baseball game, we were confident in Chris Hall's performance. We were inspired by Margaret Rickert and Lisa Ingraham's abilities in debate.

Mark Hausner and Jackie Burns impressed us with awards they earned in a national Latin exam while at a drama performance, Monica Diette and Chris Ruth captured our imaginations.

While listening to the Singers' choral arrangement, Frank Dorsey kept our attention with his booming voice. Warming up for a band concert, Angela Ramirez and Jeff Rehm kept us moving to the beat. Academically, Jackie Burns, Bill Downing, and Michelle Gregory led the class with straight A's.

As the school year came to a close, sophomore action continued to thrive. Now we can look forward to an exciting and energetic year of "Junior Action" in 1987."

Stuco serves

Stuco had one of its busiest years ever, beginning with the MORP mixer, which is Prom spelled backwards. Other major projects for the group included running concession stands and supervising Homecoming and mixers.

However, Stuco didn’t do things just for BHS, as they participated in exchanges with Stuco members from Blue Valley and Turner.

As a service project, Stuco held an “Eggstraordinary” game in which members went to Lake Forest and asked for eggs and then sold those same eggs to residents. All profits went to the area elderly.

Year of success

FHA-HERO enjoyed another busy year. In November, members attended the fall conference where they presented a successful anti-smoking skit.

At district elections, Lisa Ingraham was elected district secretary. She also won a third-star rating for illustrated talk. Also winning awards were Karen Higginbothem and Shelly Foley.

Besides representing BSHS at conferences, the group stayed busy with service projects. For one project, they sold certificates for dolls and animals, with all proceeds going to the community.

As a new project, the group took their parents to Waldo Astoria to see "Heaven Can Wait."

To sponsor a scholarship, Espanol y Francals had several fundraising activities. As in the past, they sold candy and worked concession stands at home basketball games.

However, it wasn't all work for the club. With members fixing Mexican, French and Greek dishes, the club joined JCL for an International dinner. In addition, the club toured the Nelson Art Gallery to view Spanish art.

JCL nabbs trophy

To begin their year, Junior Classical League members held a Slave Day as part of initiation ceremonies for new members.

In April the club traveled to Wichita for their state convention. The group fared well at the event, sweeping the Olympic events and capturing several academic awards.

As another project, BSHS Latin students competed in the NJCL examination against 63,000 other students across the nation. Mark Hausner received top honors for the group with a silver Maxima Cum Laude medal. Other students who placed were Ryan Hitchcock and Jackie Burns, Latin I, and Steve Christensen, Latin II.

JCL was also happy to join with L&C in the purchase of an Apple Ile computer.
Taking a quick run through, Rodney Foley and Lisa Loftin practice their debating.

Super Season

Placing in three tournaments, the BSHS debate squad enjoyed a strong season. One of the team's best performances came at Shawnee Mission South, where they captured a team trophy with a 9-1 record.

"The team did really well," said Coach Ken Clark. Out of 159 contests, the squad won 82 and lost 77 on the year.

The topic this year was water and the stated resolve was as follows: "Resolved: That the federal government should establish a comprehensive national policy to protect the quality of water in the U.S."

Listening to her partner, Lisa Ingraham and Patricia Neal go over the topic.

Top forensic students. After one of their first-place finishes, Burt Tabor and Kelly Burton visit with Ms. Foote.

I told you once. Senior Randy Freeman tells his duet partner, junior Mikkki Allen, what he thinks.

Glory days

Without a doubt, this was by far the most successful season that the BSHS forensics squad has had in five years.

The squad competed at Shawnee Mission East, Paola, Leavenworth, Blue Valley, and Shawnee Mission Northwest. The 15-member squad accumulated six first places, seven second places, and a sixth and a third-place finish.

For the sponsor, Ms. Bari Foote, the song "Glory Days" by Bruce Springsteen seemed to represent the year. The fact that this was also Ms. Foote's last year at BSHS helped to make the year memorable.

Polishing the act. Anna Falla and Kristina Lenz, seniors, practice their duet.

Theater boosters

Remaining small but mighty, the BSHS Thespian troupe supported the performances of Dracula, Foote's Follies, and backed the forensics squad throughout the season.

As a special project, Thespian members participated in a MImemobile where they dressed as mimes and entertained the crowd at the Homecoming parade.

This year has been very special to the senior Thespian members and to their sponsor, Bari Foote, as it was their last year together at BSHS. Ms. Foote resigned at the end of the year after teaching five years at BSHS.

Applying final touches. Sophomore Chris Ruth prepares to ride on the Thespian MImemobile.

SADD form in '86

A new organization in 1986, the Bonner High chapter of Students Against Drunk Drivers began under the leadership of president Annette Kaiser.

As projects, SADD members assisted in serving non-alcoholic beverages at Sandstone during the summer and sponsored an Alcohol Awareness Week at BSHS in the spring.

Kayettes keep busy

With 140 members and two sponsors, the BSHS Kayettes kept very busy. To start the year off, the group had a table at enrollment. In addition, they honored those students who made the honor rolls. Wanting something fun for the club, Kayettes again sponsored Val Pals the week of Valentine’s Day.

As a fund-raiser, the group again sponsored the Powder Puff game. At this event, the senior team won and the club raised $597.68. Furthermore, Kayettes sponsored the canned food drive at BSHS and gathered more than 2,500 pounds of food for the needy.

Exhausted. Sophomores Chari Frentrop, and Jan Nuzum, and senior Amy Smith take a break from the Kayette Royals Mixer.

Staff seeks to inform student body

With deadlines throughout the year, the Pow Wow staff of 13 was always pushing to have stories written, pictures printed, and everything typeset on time to have papers printed every three weeks.

Under the editorship of Patti McCoy, junior, students were informed of future events and learned more about the school and the area. Special features included in-depth stories on the future, Prom, stress, and money.

Finished! Junior Tim Toland and sophomore Jan Nuzum study final layouts before leaving.

Goofing off! Seniors Kelly Burton, Tonya Ferrell, and Bridgette Greer pause in their work for the newspaper.

Working hard. Beth Weir and Patti McCoy, juniors, type their stories on "Bessie," the typesetting machine.

Deadline pressure

Under the direction of senior Michelle McMackin, the 18-member Totem Pole staff worked hard to produce the best yearbook possible.

Prior to the start of the school year, McMackin and junior Tara McCrink attended a workshop at CMSU to gain ideas for this year's book.

Throughout the year, the staff faced constant deadlines, and they worked hard to print pictures and to write clever captions. The staff also utilized a new production system this year, allowing the yearbook printer to typeset all copy.

The staff worked especially hard this year to utilize more photographs in the yearbook. Also, for the first time, they increased the size of the Mini-Mag section.

NHS honors 25

Under a new set of membership rules, the BSHS chapter of National Honor Society initiated 25 new members.

According to the new constitution, a student must have a GPA of 3.2 or better to be eligible for NHS. To be considered for membership, the student was required to submit an essay to a faculty committee. This committee then evaluated each student on a point system in order to select new members.

Under this point system, grade point average counts for 50 percent of the student's points while teacher evaluations count 35 percent and extra-curricular activities count 15 percent.

It's almost time to start. Prospective NHS members await the start of the ceremony with their sponsors.

Tonya has been involved in numerous activities at BSHS, including the Stuco presidency. She was also valedictorian of her class.
Ferrell, Buck
lead Class of '86

Tonya Ferrell, pictured left, was at the top of the Class of 1986. Tonya was active in a variety of school activities and in her church. In addition, she served as president of the BSHS student body and was involved in many vocal and instrumental music groups, including Singers, A Cappella and Concert Choir. Tonya was also active in JCL and served as treasurer of Kayettes. Tonya plans to attend Evangel College, where she will major in communications.

Jonna Buck, salutatorian, ranked second in her class. She was active in many school activities, including Stuco, "B" Club, and Pep Club. She was a member of the pom pon squad for two years. Academically, she received the Rotary award for commerce and was a KU Honor Scholar. Jonna was also a member of the BSHS National Business Honor Society. Jonna plans to attend Pittsburg State where she will major in business administration.
Rotary club awards honors to juniors

Bond captured Gold Key in New York

Students in the BSHS crafts department earned several awards at the regional Gold Show held in Lawrence.

Junior Kris Bond captured the top award, a Gold Key, for his silver box. Kris' work was then sent to New York where it competed with 9,300 entries. At this prestigious show, Kris captured a Gold Medal.

Students who received honorable mention in the nine-patch textile design category at the Lawrence show included the following: Deanna Parker, Brian Hutchinson, Erin Fix, and Janelle Waterman. Debra Green received an honorable mention in the three-dimensional design category.

Lifting spirits

1985–86 was a full year for the cheerleaders trying to raise spirit. The group decorated lockers, passed out “spirit presents,” hung banners in the halls and organized pep assemblies.

The squad attended camp with their new sponsor, Kim Gilbert, and brought home numerous ribbons. The varsity squad received awards for outstanding jumps, stunts, mounts, leadership, and spirit. They placed second overall while the JV squad won for stunts, mounts, leadership and cheering skills.

Disappointment for Braves

The Bonner Braves had a disappointing 1984 season, ending the year with a 4-5 record.

"We didn't play up to our capabilities," said Coach Joe Mlntner. The Braves, however, weren't disappointed about everything. Senior Rodney McConico led the EKL in rushing with 1,261 yards, and senior Jerold Fletcher was third with 679 yards. In total offense the Braves were second in the EKL. Defensively, Bonner was third against the rush, allowing opponents 106.9 yards per game.

Four Braves were named to the all-EKL squad: Fletcher was first-team defense; Andy Adkins, second-team offense; and John Benz, second-team offense.

Coach Mlntner has high hopes for the '86 season. Next year, the team will return seven offensive starters and defensive starters.

Bravettes reach goal

After losing five seniors, nobody expected the BSHS volleyball team to go to state, let alone take third. But, they made it back to Newton with Kathy Bates leading the way, and defended their state title.

The year started out slow, with Bonner not being able to make it to the KCKCC tourney finals for the first time in four years. After losing to Immaculata in the semifinals, the Bravettes made their trip to the Washburn Rural Invitation placing third.

"This," said Coach Shirley Vaughn, "was the turning point of our season." And the turning point it was, with everything after this good news.

Going into sub-state, Bonner was ranked third behind Ottawa and Washburn Rural. They faced and defeated Ottawa in their first match. Next came the No. 1 seed, Washburn. It took three games, 15-9, 3-15, and 13-8, but the Bravettes came out on top.

Throughout the year, there were some individual accomplishments for the volleyball team. Kristi Finley set a new service record; she had 70 aces from the line. Finley was also named to the all-EKL team for the second year. Kathy Bates was also a member of the all-state team for the second year in a row.

Return to Newton

Statebound, the BSHS Bravettes finished third in the Kansas 5A state tournament at Newton. Hopes for a first-place finish were shattered after a highly controversial line call, denying the Bravettes a chance for the title.

Completing pool play with a 2-1 record, the Bravettes gained a spot in the semi-finals and a chance to hold the championship title for two consecutive years.

Opening with an easy win, the Bravettes showed spectators what they could do with a 15-2, 15-5 victory over Parsons, who had a 25-4 record.

The outlook for the Bravettes' second pool match was good as they led Hays 11-6 in the first game. Hays came back to defeat them, 15-13, 15-5.

The Bravettes entered their third and final match in the pool play with much determination. A win was necessary to continue into the semi-finals. But once again these girls proved that they do their best under pressure. They defeated ElDorado with a quick 15-2, 15-8 score.

Bonner then met Mlege in the semi-finals. Mlege won the first game, 15-9, and in the second game Bonner had Mlege down 9-1. But the Stags game back, and after a controversial call, they won 15-11. Coach Vaughn didn't use the call as an excuse, saying her team should have won anyway.

In the third-place game, Buhler won the first match 15-11. But the rest was all Bonner. They dominated the last two games, 15-5, 15-8, to win the match.

Braves finish strong

Led by state qualifier Steve Christensen, the Braves cross country team finished another strong season. "We finished the season where we anticipated," said Coach Alton Morey.

The team was paced by six returning lettermen: Christensen, Bill Downing, Richard Brillhart, Charles Antill, Aaron Brizendine, and Al Cummings. The squad was also helped by the addition of junior transfer student Larry Arnold.

Christensen turned in a season of strong performances. In September, he captured the Bonner Invitational with a time of 11:12 and became the first BSHS runner to do so since Ray Mosier in 1979.

At the EKL meet, Christensen placed second while the squad took fifth. At this meet, both Arnold and Downing finished in the top twenty.

Christensen went on to compete in regional and state competition. At the state meet in Manhattan, he placed sixth with a time of 16.31.

In addition, Christensen was named to the all-Metro squad at the end of the year while Coach Morey was named to the all-Metro coaching association.

As a whole, the squad turned in strong performances at meets in Paola and Aquinas, where they captured third-place finishes.

Losing only one senior, Al Cummings, the outlook looks strong for next year.

"I think we won more games than we were expected to win," said boys' basketball coach John Heckathorne, "but overall I think we could have done better."

Heckathorne's comment virtually summed up the feelings of most who followed the Braves this year.

In tourney action, the Braves failed to reach the finals of the Paola Invitational by losing to Paola in the second round.

Another disappointment came at the Tonganoxie tournament where cold shooting took away the Braves' hopes of regaining the title. Although it was close all the way, the Braves ended up losing to Tongy in the finals, 38-40.

The Braves finished the year with a 9-12 record and averaged 48.6 points per game. Their opponents, however, averaged 51.4 points.

Bonner netted 39 percent of their shots from the field and made 51 percent from the line.

There were highlights to the season, though, and the biggest perhaps was the selection of junior Andy Adkins to the all-EKL team. Adkins earned his way to the honor by leading the Braves in scoring with 272 points for a 12.9 average.

Adkins wasn't the only force to be reckoned with as senior Jerold Fletcher hit the boards hard all year. Fletcher came down with 187 rebounds on the year. However, rebounding wasn't his only strong suit as he was close behind Adkins with a 11.2 scoring average.

"With the talent we had, we could have been more successful." — Jerold Fletcher, senior.

Beginning the season with a victory over Aquinas, the Bravettes went on to post a 12-8 record.

Although the squad led the EKL at various times in the season, they were forced to finish in third place.

The squad was led by a crop of strong seniors: Tammy and Kathy Bates, Kristi Finley, Amy Smith, and Wendl Coffman.

One of the high points for the squad came at the DeSoto Tourney where they captured first place with victories over Harmon, St. Scholastica, and Olathe South.

The leading scorer for the squad was Kathy Bates, who averaged 18.3 points for 366 points on the year.

In their careers at BSHS, Bates and Finley virtually rewrote the record books. Bates established the best scoring average at 18.3 and tallied 1,210 career points. She also holds the school record for the best free-throw percentage at 80 percent.

Finley holds all the assist and steal records, including 120 assists in a single season and 364 in a career. She also holds the school record for playing in the most consecutive games at 71.

“"We had a good season, considering we were young, inexperienced, and we lacked depth."—Kristi Finley, senior.

The BSHS wrestling team performed with superior individual potential and great team efforts during the 1985-86 season.

"For as young as we were, we had a very good year," said head coach Tim McGinnis.

The team's success was due to a strong nucleus of talent. Wrestlers such as Jay Verdict, Jeff Holloway, and David Blackwell provided the push for victory while Mike Means, Scott Geary, Dennis Hunt, and Jason Tinberg put in great efforts to help the team reach its goals.

To highlight the year, the team took six wrestlers to the state championship in Wichita: freshman Jasbon Tinberg; sophomores Scott Geary and Jay Verdict; and seniors Mike Means, Jeff Holloway, and David Blackwell.

Thanks to David Blackwell, no hope was lost at the state meet. In the 167-pound division, David brought home the state title.

Three of the state qualifiers held top records during the year. Verdict ended his season with a 28-3 record. Holloway wound his last year up with a 23-8 mark. Last, but not least, Blackwell went out in style with an undefeated record of 28-0 and the state championship.

The team and their coaches went through a lot of hard work and practice and it all paid off.

Coach McGinnis said, "This year Coach Murphy and I had fun coaching this group because they were like a family."

And it looks like we can be expecting a lot more from this "family" because Coach McGinnis is planning on nine returning lettermen and three state qualifiers for next year.

Netters show progress

With a dual record of six wins, one loss, and one tie, the BSHS tennis squad enjoyed one of its most successful seasons ever.

"We had one of our best varsity teams overall," said Coach Bill Scott. "Miste Bitner had the best singles performance of any player in Bonner history."

One of the team's strongest performances came at the Baldwin Invitational tournament where the doubles team of Bitner and Tara McCrink came home with a first-place finish.

At the DeSoto Quadrangular, the squad tied for first place. In doubles play, the team of Bitner and Pam Sollner went 3-0 while the team of Leslie Myrick and Jenny Kirchner ended the day with a 1-2 record. McCrink posted a 1-2 record at the tourney while Tonya Ferrell notched a 2-1 mark.

At the EKL meet, the squad placed fourth with Bitner grabbing a second place and the team of McCrink and Ferrell capturing seventh. All three players advanced to regional play, placing third as a team.

At regionals, Bitner went on to capture the title while McCrink and Ferrell were eliminated in the second round.

Letter winners for the squad were Miste Bitner, Tara McCrink, Tonya Ferrell, Leslie Myrick, Pam Sollner, and Jenny Kirchner.

“Our future looks bright,” Scott said. “Everyone will return with the exception of Tonya.”

Bitner places second

With a second-place finish, junior Miste Bitner became the first BSHS girls' tennis player to place in state competition.

Actually, Bitner came within two points of winning the state crown, but she eventually lost to Sara Ewy of Kapaun, 1–6, 6–2, 5–7.

To reach the finals, Bitner had to defeat two-time and reigning state champion Maureen O'Conner, also of Kapaun. In defeating the highly touted O'Conner, 6–2, 7–5, Bitner captured the attention of the media and college recruiters.

"All the recruiters were there to watch Maureen," said tennis coach Bill Scott, "but they ended up asking about Miste."

Bitner, who was seeded third in the tourney, began the first round with a win over Jennifer Wilson of Arkansas City, 6–1, 6–1. In the second round, she defeated Julie Wray of Liberal, 6–1, 6–0.

Although Bitner became the first BSHS girls' player to finish among the state's best, she had hoped for the state championship. "I worked hard all year. I would have liked to have won," she said. "It was kind of a disappointment."

No. 2 in the state. Junior Miste Bitner returns a point in an EKL match.

Braves hang tough

Led by seniors Chris Thomas, Shawn Walker, and Al Cummings, the BSHS tennis squad remained competitive throughout the season. One of the squad's strongest efforts came at the two-day Gardner Invitational tourney where the doubles team of Jeff Dolinar—Al Cummings won four of five matches and tied for first. The doubles duo of Monty Chayer and Matt Jones won two of four matches and captured third place.

At the EKL tournament, the squad placed sixth, with the doubles team of Walker—Cummings turning in a solid performance. The other consisting of Tim Toland and Tim Jones, was eliminated in the first round.

At regional play, none of the Braves advanced.
Tough season for Braves

When competing against 17 class 6A teams and only four in class 5A, the odds were definitely against the BSHS boys' baseball squad.

One of the areas which hindered the squad was pitching. Coach John Heckathorne, in summing up his squad's 4-17 record, said: "I was somewhat disappointed, not because of the losing season, but because we didn't improve as a team."

Shawn Hall, junior, led the way for the squad in the hitting department with a .411 average. Hall also had 14 RBI's. Senior David Blackwell supplied the power with a team-leading seven home runs. Steve Johnson was close behind both of them with a .313 average and five home runs.

"Next year, we ought to have a fairly solid ball team. We return two of our three pitchers; three out of four outfielders; and both of our catchers," said Heckathorne.

Strike one. Senior pitcher David Blackwell tried for another win from the mound.

This time we'll beat 'em. The BSHS baseball team approaches the game with a positive attitude.
Digging in. Senior Dale Fowlkes tries to get the Braves' offense going.

Under the direction of Coach Don Smith, the Bravettes posted a successful 14-10 mark.

As a team, the squad hit .295 and outscored their opponents 189-99. The squad also logged a high on-base percentage of .528. In addition, the Barvettes stole 75 bases, as compared to 40 for their opponents.

Junior Sheryl Vickers, the team's designated hitter, led her squad with a .412 average. First baseman Lori Delana was close behind with .392 average.

Also having a good year was senior Kristi Finley, who hit .362 with 15 RBI's. Overall the team's RBI leader was junior Lisa Pickert, who knocked in 18. In the home run category, junior third baseman Kellie Hulsey led the squad with four. Hulsey also led the team in runs scored with 28.

Junior Susie Newton was again the workhorse of the Bravette pitching staff. Newton notched a strong 13-8 record and finished the season with a low ERA of 2.27. In 128 innings of work, Newton fanned 79 batters. Also helping in the pitching area were Kandi Ford, who posted a 1-1 record, and Chrissy Isabell, who was 0-1.

Preparation. Junior Kellie Hulsey gets ready for the next ground ball at third.

Determination. Junior Kandi Ford lays down a bunt to move her teammate forward.

Stretching for the play. Junior Lisa Pickert puts the tag on her opponent.

Winding up. Junior Susie Newton prepares to strike out another batter.

Professional form. Senior shortstop Kristi Finley fields the ball and prepares to throw to first base.

Teamwork. Junior Maria Brown forces a "hot box" with her opponent while juniors Susie Newton and Lori Delana back up the play.

Out of my way. Junior Lisa Pickert beats the tag at home plate and scores yet another run for the Bravettes.

"Our team did well this season, but sometimes it seemed like luck just wasn't on our side."—Lori Delana, junior.
Three make it to State

The BSHS track squad was paced in 1986 by three state qualifiers: seniors Bill Kelly and Bridgette Greer and junior Steve Christensen.

At the state meet in Wichita, Kelly placed third in his specialty, the javelin. Kelly had strong performances throughout the year, placing first at regionals and at the EKL meet. Christensen, despite an injury that sidelined him for most of the season, captured a first at regionals in the 1600-meter run and then placed fifth at state.

Greer, who qualified for the 100-meter run, did not place in state competition. She did, however, have a great day at regionals, placing in the three sprint races.

This year’s squad was a young one, with 16 sophomores dominating the team. The squad turned in its best performance at the Ward Invitational where several performers placed high.

A junior, Cynthia Munden turned in a strong season setting a school record in the discus with a toss of 96'9".

Year of improvement

The 1985-86 BSHS golf team had one of its largest squads ever. The increase in participation allowed for nine more matches than there were five years ago. The team also sported new gold bags and once again held its practices at the Sunflower Hills course.

Team achievements were up this year as the squad placed fourth at the Maur Hill Tournament. The squad also won the Olathe Triangular and posted a five-year low score of 326 at the EKL match.

Probably one of the biggest disappointments for the squad came when senior Eric Reynolds missed a chance at the state tourney by just one stroke. Sophomore Richard Laing, however, led the way in individual highlights. He placed fifth at both Maur Hill and Washburn. Laing also made it to the state tourney with a tenth place finish at regionals, shooting an 83. He finished the season by tying for eighth at state, shooting a 78.

"I feel we had a very rewarding season although we did not complete all of our team objectives," said Coach Bob Chatterton. "We were able to be very competitive in our league and region."

Caught in the act. Juniors Mitch Bernard and Gary Courtney take a short camera break while at practice.

Chip shot. Senior Pat Pickert practices his chip shots onto the green.

Fore! Junior Gary Courtney tees off at Sunflower Hills.

Concentration! Senior David Stephan eyes a long putt for birdie.

"I was really looking for a better year than we achieved." — David Stephan, senior.

Top athletes

Seniors Kristi Finley and Bill Kelly were the 1986 outstanding athletes at BSHS. The awards were presented by the Totem Pole Club at a special awards ceremony.

As a BSHS athlete, Kelly earned three letters in football and track. He also lettered and started on the basketball team. He was twice named to the all-EKL football and also received all-state honorable mention. At the state track meet last May, Kelly placed third in the javelin.

Finley was a three-year starter in basketball and volleyball. She also lettered two years in softball. As a senior, Finley was named to the all-EKL team in basketball.

Team togetherness. Members of the track squad, Richard Brillhart, Bill Downing, Jesse Freese, and Kelly Martin, listen intently to Coach Mintner.

Athletes of the year. Kristi Finley and Bill Kelly were named the top BSHS athletes for 1986. Shown making the presentation is Mr. Jim Finley.
The 1986 167-pound state wrestling champ, David Blackwell, began his wrestling career at the age of eight. Throughout the years, David's desire began to grow as he set his sights on his high school career.

David got his first taste of success early. Wrestling in the 112-pound category as a freshman, he advanced to the state meet after winning his first EKL title. Qualifying for the semi-final round, David lost when he was pinned in overtime, thus placing third.

Gaining experience, David again placed first in the EKL his sophomore year and then advanced to State. Losing to Monty Ayala (whom he would face again later in his high school career) in the semi-finals, David took fourth place.

As a junior, David for the third time captured the EKL title and made his third trip to State. Advancing again in the semi's, David, in the beginning, had a 5–0 lead on his opponent. Unfortunately, the tables turned and David lost 8–6, having taken his third shot at the semi-finals unsuccessfully.

With only one shot left at the State title and just one more chance to pursue his dream of becoming a State Champion, David began improving his skills along with his desire.

Dedicating an enormous amount of time and effort, David again placed first in the EKL for the fourth time and remained undefeated for the season, posting a 28–0 record. While the team advanced to regionals, David, along with five other teammates, qualified for the state tournament. As a senior, David realized this was his last chance at the title.

Advancing to the semi-finals again, David beat his opponent and moved into the finals against Monty Ayala of Kapaun.

Losing 1–0 in the third period, David was down and then escaped, gaining a point with 1:30 left on the clock. At 1:00 remaining, Ayala tried to throw David, but David captured him on his back, in turn scoring four points. Ayala then received his second caution, giving David a point to lead 6–1. Soon after, David received his second stalling warning while Ayala escaped, making the score 6–3. With 30 seconds remaining, Ayala took David down, making the score at the buzzer 6–5, as David claimed his long-awaited championship.

The ups and downs of summer

You did it! Another year of high school is over and now you are ready for some fun in the summer of '85. Overlooking the rainy weather, you and some friends head to the movies to see frisky Michael J. Fox in "Back to the Future" or maybe the gorgeous Sylvester Stallone in "Rambo." Unfortunately, both movies are sold out. What are you going to do? There are no Sandstone concerts tonight; it's too late to head to Worlds of Fun, and no one is hungry. Why not go shopping? Gucci bags in hands, you and the gang eagerly head to Oak Park to buy that black denim mini-skirt and some red-and-black checkered pants.

But after a fun-filled night of shopping the only thing purchased was another Mickey Mouse sweatshirt and a pair of Jams, Hawaiian shorts.

Cramming into your '66 Mustang convertible, you all head back to Bonner with Tears for Fears' "Shout" blaring from your favorite new radio station, B95. As you cruise the streets of Bonner, your bobbed hair blows in the wind, and everyone begins to lip sync to "Wham Rap" and, then, "Lovin' Every Minute of It."

Hunger overtakes all of you, and it's an unanimous decision to try the new Priazzo at Pizza Hut. An open debate breaks out over the loss of Bruce Springsteen to his new wife, the raising of the drinking age to twenty-one, the AIDS, and the possibility of a baseball strike.

Once home again, you flip on the TV and witness the preparation of the Live Aid concert which eventually raised $55 million for those starving in Africa.

The summer quickly passed, even though the weather never improved. Rain continued to drown out many summer plans. But most people forgot the weather and focused their attention on the American hostage crisis with Beirut. Despite the unfortunate death of navy diver Robert Stetham, the thirty-seven American hostages were finally released when President Reagan released approximately 250 Lebanese prisoners.

Also making the the summer news, one of the worst air disasters ever occurred when a U.S.-built Boeing 747 Japan Airlines plane crashed, killing 520 passengers.

The summer began to draw to a close as the back-to-school sales hit the shopping malls. Once again, the old gang crowded into the convertible Mustang, with the "The Search Is Over" blaring from the radio, and made plans for the start of a new school year. The summer of 1985 had come to a close.

Sept-Oct. Action

Daddy Bret Saberhagen shows his stuff, Royals pluck Cardinals in World Series dust, Brave dugout slide by third-baseman George Brett proposed record ratings give hard hitters a threat. Orson Welles and Rock Hudson are the new idols. The I-70 Series was over, but it will not be soon forgotten. The unique managing style of Dick Howser brought Kansas City their first World Championship.

The Royals shut the Cardinals out, 11-0. The entire nation was shocked. Ignoring criticism and unfavorable odds, the Royals clinched the 1985 World Series title. The fat lady finally sung the blues, Royal blue.

How can anyone forget the post-season play of the 1985 season? The Royals faith and dedication showed as it was packed full of strong memories and spectacular plays. Topping the list was the performance from 21-year-old Bret Saberhagen, as he captured the World Series MVP, the Cy Young Award, two World Series victories, a chat with President Reagan, and the birth of his first son, Drew William. But he's not the only Royal that shined. George Brett's hot bat pounded many pitchers and his spectacular fielding enabled him to capture the 1985 American Gold Glove Award.

Frank White and Buddy Blanco made a ferocious double-play duo. As their strength began to show, Steve Balboni baffled pitchers with many key hits, while Willie Wilson stole even more bases and robbed many hitters of base hits.

But the whole team deserved credit and Kansas City knew it as over 300,000 fans showed up to support their Royals in their victory parade at Liberty Memorial on Oct. 28.

Despite overheating cars and players blanketed in ticker tape, fans showed their gratitude for all their Royal idols. The I-70 Series was over, but it will not be soon forgotten. The unique managing style of Dick Howser brought Kansas City their first World Championship.

After the 1985 season of unbelievable comebacks, one can only wonder what the '86 season will bring. Junior Brian Hutchinson stated, "It's about time the Royals did it. They're going to do it again next year."

... the year in review

You gotta love it!

Cruising Bonner Springs on a Saturday night has never been considered a "big thrill." The word "dead" better describes these fun-filled nights. But on Oct. 26, 1985, Bonner Springs had good reason to be "dead," as did the entire Kansas City area.

All eyes were glued to the television as the Kansas City Royals took on the St. Louis Cardinals in the sixth game of the World Series, the Show Me Showdown.

The Royals took the game in the bottom of the ninth, with pinch hitter Dane long blooped a single into right field, scoring two runs. The final score: Kansas City, 2; St. Louis, 1.

Because the Cardinals held the lead 1-0 going into the ninth inning, many Kansas City fans felt that the Royals' season was over. Senior Billy Kelly attended the sixth game and until the ninth inning felt the Royals had a slim chance of winning. "When they got the lead-off man on, I felt they had a chance," he added.

The seventh game added to the Royals' remarkable list of accomplishments as Money ain’t for nothing

“Money doesn’t grow on trees” and for this reason numerous BSHS students hold part-time jobs, earning needed money for fun times and for future investments.

When the long-awaited paycheck finally arrives, most students like to splurge on clothes, cruising, and car payments. Others, however, place their money into the bank for the future.

As a preference, most of the working students at BSHS hold jobs in the Bonner Springs/Edwardsville area at such locations as Dairy Queen, Stephan Standard, IGA or Wal-Mart.

Working at the Kaw Valley Manor nursing home in Bonner, junior Julia Carmack explained why she needed money when she said, “I have to pay for my car insurance, and I’m saving for the future.” On the other hand, “The money I earn goes directly into my partying fund,” explained senior Brutus Utter.

Legacy members enjoy work

Unfortunately, many students at BSHS work not because they enjoy it, but because they have to. However, for six students at BSHS, work is anything but drudgery—they’re a part of the eight-member band, Legacy.

Practicing three times a week, Legacy members Mike Buening, James Franklin, Jerry Dalebout, Joey Martinez, Ryan Hitchcock, and Curtis Nall explained that when they play they are looking more for having a good time then making a lot of money.

Junior Jerry Dalebout, who runs the band’s lighting and sound said, “We are just out to have a good time.”

There are, however, rewards in making music. Joey Martinez, junior, said that he enjoys being a part of the band because of the feeling he gets “after a song has ended and we’ve done a good job.” Curtis Nall, also a junior, said he enjoys the challenge of developing his musical skills. “The guitar is like anything else. To be good, you’ve got to work at it. Not everybody can play music, and I like the challenge of trying to be the best.”

As their music scores range from heavy metal to a more popular contemporary rock, this fun-loving band most often plays for personal parties, small weddings, and frequently at Pizzano’s Pizza in Edwardsville.

Performing once or twice a month, sometimes more, Legacy’s earned money goes directly to purchasing or repairing equipment for the band and each member shares an equal part of the investments.

The band’s future looks strong for these eight guys as they work closely together, striving to produce fine sounds for their audiences.

Jeans and Jams top fashion list for 1986

Lights, camera, action, roll 'em. We, as students, are constantly on the run—never slowing down as the school year goes by. Our 180 days of the classroom scene expose us to friends, foes, and the facts of life. Trying to be a special part, each person tries to fit into the social scene.

Clothes and fashions are a major part of everyone's priorities and the fashion fads of the time keep everyone on the go. Unfortunately, the fads of fashion continue to change and it's hard to keep a firm grip on the styles of today.

Although our high school has never strayed to the totally off-the-wall clothing, our students know what is "in" and never disassociate themselves with the styles.

Besides the love of warm, comfortable sweatshirts, big bulky sweaters are frequently seen in the Bonner halls. Sweaters of this kind run from $25 and higher.

Over the years, jeans have never lost their popularity and today Levis 501's, about $25, and the flowered jeans, starting at $30, top the list of favorites.

In addition, men are not the only ones seen wearing boxer shorts of daring colors and prints. Throughout the area, women now share the fun of the boxer short popularity. However, boxer shorts run rather high, usually found for about $25.

On the sidewalk scene, leather boots, $40 and up, leather high-tops, $45 and up, and flat pumps, $20 and up, share the path walked by the feet of numerous students.

Despite the styles of the times, each person gives his clothing his own individuality and creativeness. No matter the cost, each person can add class to his own wardrobe and not have to splurge on expensive styles.

As long as fashions continue to change, the desire to wear the hottest styles will always be there.

Why do you, like so many other students, love to splurge on the cafeteria's ham 'n' cheeses?

Dana Jones, Junior:
"Because when I'm hungry and running late, I grab a ham 'n' cheese and it keeps me satisfied until lunch."

"Power of Love"... Summer... "The Color Purple"... ACT...
Munching in the morning

School starts routinely at 7:45 a.m. Monday through Friday for nine months of the year. Why then, do some sleepy-eyed students drag themselves from their warm snuggly beds sometimes before 5:00 a.m.? Simply, because so many students enjoy an early-morning breakfast and the opportunity to share some time with close friends, despite the loss of sleep.

Most of the time, Bonner Springs’ McDonald’s receives the business from these early-risers that range from the inexperienced sophomores to the carefree seniors. Senior breakfasts become more frequent as the school year draws to a close.

But Mickey D’s is not the only stopping place for hungry students. Perkins, Ponderosa, and Winchell’s remain favorites among many.

Stating her favorite, Michelle Gregory, sophomore, replied, “McDonald’s is my favorite place for breakfast, because it’s close and the food is good.”

As long as school pressures and priorities continue to build throughout the year, breakfasts will always provide a needed break and many good times for all students of BSHS.

Americans witness fire in the sky

It exploded! What went wrong? Seventy-three seconds after the dream began for Christa McAuliffe, a high school social-studies teacher from Concord, NH, and six NASA astronauts aboard the Challenger space shuttle, the entire nation watched in horror as the spacecraft tragically exploded, leaving no hope for the crew.

Throughout our school, large groups of students clustered around a lone television set in the library, quietly watching replays of the tragedy and experiencing the nightmare with a sense of disbelief.

The tragedy was difficult for Americans to absorb, possibly because we have soared into space fifty-five times over twenty-five years and a safe return was taken for granted.

Representing citizens across America, McAuliffe was viewed as symbol of the first ordinary citizen venturing into space.

Although the temperature remained bitter the day of the take-off, Challenger blasted off on January 28, 1986, one day later than scheduled. The lift-off seemed perfect, but suddenly, there was a malfunction and then a frightening shade of orange, red and yellow as the spacecraft burst into flames.

What went wrong? Investigators will continue to search for reasons as to why the Challenger never reached its destination. Most likely, the cause of the tragedy will remain a mystery as the reason will never be fully understood.

Finally, a special place in our hearts will always remember the seven brave astronauts who gave their lives reaching for a brighter future for all of us.

Pizzano’s... Swenson’s... Tanning beds... KU basketball...
The phrase "Coke was it" became popular in the summer of 1985 after the Coca-Cola bottling company changed its formula after 99 successful years. In changing the traditional soft drink, the Coca-Cola company said it hoped to compete more successfully with new, lighter colas.

Surprising to the company, this new Coke fell flat as loyal "Cokaholics" boycotted the new produce with loud protests throughout the nation.

Why the change? According to Newsweek magazine, the idea of a formula change for Coke had been in circulation for five years when researchers were developing Diet Coke and discovered a new cola taste. In secret taste tests, Coca-Cola found that consumers preferred this new taste blend 61 to 39 percent.

In addition, the decision also came when the company perceived that Coke's dominant position in the market was fading. Thinking this new formula would please consumers and boost company sales, Coke announced its startling switch.

Soon after "New Coke" hit the stores, vending machines, and restaurants, Pepsi sales jumped by over 14 percent. Almost immediately, New Coke was compared to furniture polish, sewer water, and worst of all, two-day-old Pepsi.

As the summer progressed and protests continued, Coke manufacturers realized the new formula was not going to be "it," and by the end of the summer Coke announced that the original formula would return under the name of "Coke Classic." It was a victory for "Cokaholics" and brought to an end one of the summer's most unusual controversies.

Missee Payne named regional Honey Queen

Through family persuasion and meeting contest rules, senior Melissa Payne claimed the Northeast Kansas Honey Queen of 1985 on Aug. 8 at the Wyandotte County Fair.

Along with this honor, Melissa became the official spokeswoman for the Beekeepers’ Association. Throughout her reign, she appeared in several parades and fairs and experienced numerous radio and television interviews.

After attending the 1986 Kansas State Fair, Melissa's reign ended in September.

The final step . . .

As we took our steps through our daily routines, the 1985-86 school year finally began to wind down.

The not-so-snowy winter brought the wrestling and basketball seasons, and we saw senior David Blackwell capture a state wrestling championship for BSHS.

The long-awaited spring saw the coming of the tennis, track, baseball and softball seasons—along with a final chance for success in 1986.

One of the highlights of the spring was Prom—held again at Lake of the Forest and featuring the theme "Just You and I." A record crowd attended the event, with celebrations continuing until the wee hours of the morning.

The end of the school year brought the arrival of senior announcements and the circulation of Stuco petitions among juniors and sophomores—all reminders that the year was almost over and that our final steps were being taken.

Nationally, Out of Africa, the year's best picture, and The Color Purple caused many of us to step up to the box office. Memorial Day featured, "Hands Across America," a fund-raising event that saw Americans across the nation linking hands to raise money for the country's hungry . . .

We got you now. Seniors Shawn Walker and Al Cummings capture Jennifer Stanley and take her to class during Punk Rock Day.

Tuning In. Junior Donny McCoy listens to some tunes while waiting for the bell to ring.
Final steps . . .

Stepping up security, the U.S. suffered paranoia when terrorist attacks throughout Europe called for action.

Then on April 14, President Ronald Reagan decided to take a stand and ordered the bombing of three military bases in Libya. The action forced the U.S. into the international spotlight as others stood back to view our strong stand on terrorism.

Also stepping onto the stage was the Soviet Union when an April 27 meltdown at the Chernobyl Nuclear Power Plant became the world's most devastating nuclear nightmare. More than 25 lost their lives as a result of the accident, and the suffering for those in the area is expected to continue for years.

As we viewed such steps with disbelief, we also took many of our own steps. As we watched our footprints in the sand disappear while etching memories in our minds, the prospect of our futures made us all the more eager to pursue our unique paths.

As our steps to the future led us to an array of jobs, careers, and colleges, the separation of our security and long-lasting friendships had to be faced.

—Tara McCrink

You can lean on me. Senior Tonya Ferrell and junior Jeff Barger rest up during the Kansas JCL convention.

I think that's a ten. From left, Bobby Duncan, Jerry Dalebout, Wendi Coffman, and Jennifer Stanley employ a ratings system at a home basketball game.

What's happening? Members of the Junior Class await the start of another pep assembly.
Glimpses... 1986 Totem Pole
Mrs. Arroline Zumbrunn

Dedicating 35 years of service to BSHS, Mrs. Arroline Zumbrunn will always have a special place in our hearts. Through her many years of dedication and caring to the staff and student body of BSHS, Mrs. Zumbrunn taught all of us important lessons. In her career at BSHS, Mrs. Zumbrunn taught language arts and supervised the sophomore reading lab. Earlier in her career at BSHS, she sponsored a variety of clubs and organizations.

Due to the loss of such an important faculty member, teacher, and friend, the 1986 Totem Pole staff dedicates its 1986 yearbook in memory of Mrs. Zumbrunn—a teacher whose hard work, caring, and ability brought us all one step closer to a higher degree of knowledge.
